STEAM STEERING GEAR.

THE FIRST SUCCESSFUL APPLICATION OF THE IMPROVEMENT

[From the New York Telegram]

The application of steam steering gear to recently constructed Sound steamboats has called attention to this quick and reliable way of handling large passenger vessels whose routes of travel bring them in to close navigation where the utmost care and untiring watchfulness are necessary to prevent collisions of perhaps a fatal character. A talk with experienced officers of Sound steamboats and also with those whose service is along the coast and on the ocean is sufficient to convince all who care to interest themselves in the subject that no vessel carrying passengers on a Sound coast or ocean route should be without the aid that steam applied to the steering gear gives them. Captain D S Babcock President of the Stonington and Providence line of steamers willingly and freely gave a Telegram reporter the benefit of his extended experience in Sound navigation. He felt that no large passenger carrying boat should be without steering gear operated by steam. It is too valuable an aid to throw aside particularly on routes of service largely patronized by the traveling public. Many collisions on the Sound had been avoided during a fog by the quick and sure working of the steam gear in hauling a vessel off her course. A dozen men of experience and ability could not do the work that one man now do satisfactorily and without danger of mistake

SIMPLE AND EFFECTIVE MACHINERY

The machinery is simple and effective and if at any time the engine is disabled and the steam gear cannot be worked it can be easily and quickly disconnected and the old style of steering resorted to. The greater the speed of the vessel with the steam appliance the more effectively is its work done. The steam gear is being fitted to the new Rhode Island now receiving her machinery at this port and designed for Sound service and no new vessel carrying passengers over which Capt Babcock may have control should ever be without it. Captain Babcock can be called a pioneer in the application of steam steering gear. As long back as 1871 or 1872 he caused it to be fitted to the old Rhode Island and found it to work admirably. [illegible] If any alteration was ever made in the machinery it having been found up on its first trial to be quick, safe and effective.

STEAM STEERING GEAR

Captain Babcock says in the Centennial Exposition there was exhibited a model of a steering gear worked by steam that was upon the old river steamboat Augusta that plied on Southern rivers away back about forty years ago. The affair was crude and made much noise in working but it did what it was required to do so well that it was found that the Augusta could go up rivers with sharp turns where opposition steamers did not dare to venture for fear of getting aground. So little was known about the appliance at that time or so little did steamboat owners care for the introduction of improvements likely to save life and property that the Augusta remained the only boat with steam steering gear for years either at the South or North. In fact the Augusta was forgotten save by a few veteran steamboat men and less than ten years ago the improved gear was again given a trial. That was in the old Rhode Island as noted above. For years the steam gear did its work on the Rhode Island to the great satisfaction of the officers of the vessel and those of the company. Then in 1877 it was applied to the Massachusetts by Captain Babcock and afterward fitted to other Sound steamboats. All who have tried it have the same words of commendation regarding its quickness and effectiveness. No new Sound steamboat will be without it hereafter" concluded Captain Babcock, "and the old ones that haven't it applied at this time will probably introduce it before long"

APPLICATION TO A SOUND STEAMER

Mr W H Turner of the New London line of Sound steamboats, said that the company he represented had been so convinced of the great value of the steam steering gear that they had fitted it to their new boat City of Worcester, now about to be put on the line. In the trial trip of this boat from Wilmington, Del, it was found that a boy six years of age so far as strength was concerned, could use the steam steerer. With the old wheels eight men, divided in to two watches were required to do the work although during the first twenty miles from New York going up and the last coming down the Sound both watches were on duty. Many times in Hell Gate the steam steerer is a necessity, and unless there is something to move the rudder of these large boats quicker than men can do so the liability to accident is very great. It is the quickness of thought on the one hand and comparatively much time on the other. Mr. Turner was sure the company would soon make its application general in their boats, as the indorsement the steam steering gear has received from all who have used it and the satisfaction given by its performance in their new boat cannot be overlooked. The City of Boston and City of New York are now steered in the old way.

INDISPENSABLE FOR LARGE BOATS

Messrs Borden & Lovell, of the Fall River line, considered that the steam steerer was something that no large passenger-carrying boat on routes of service generally patronized should be without. It was applied to their boats, the Bristol and Providence, one year ago, but in this time it has shown the officers of the company that it cannot be dispensed with. Working to a charm, without danger of derangement and doing what six men could never do so satisfactorily, what more is required to recommend it? Their large boats are as easily handled in close navigation now as could be wished for, and in plying through Long Island Sound occasions come up repeatedly when, of a necessity for safety's sake, big steamboats must be hauled off their course for a moment, and then the steam steerer demonstrates its great value. It cannot make a mistake, and with capable men on duty the danger of accident is greatly reduced. No boat built in the future deserving to be called a steamboat and designed for such service as that of the Sound will be without the steam steerer. The company's new boat, now in process of construction at Chester, Pa, will have steam steering gear, as will any other boat the company may build or control

COASTWISE STEAMERS PROVIDED.

Passing from the consideration of Sound steamboats to coastwise steamers it is found that many of the latter are fitted with the useful steam steerer. There is no question in minds of the officers who know of its workings about its great efficiency. They would not be without it—could not be in fact—as the aid it renders to safe navigation is so great that it is difficult to fully estimate its value. Amongst the prominent coastwise boats fitted with steam steering gear are the Louisiana iron 2 840 tons, plying to New Orleans, Chalmette, iron 2 893 tons to New Orleans, City of Macon, iron 2 000 tons, to Savannah, City of Augusta iron 2 800 tons to Savannah, Gate City iron 1 997 tons to Savannah City of Savannah, iron 2 020 tons to Savannah. City of Washington iron 2 618 tons to Havana and Mexican port, City of Alexandria, iron, 3 030 tons to Havana, etc, Colorado iron 2 760 tons to Galveston, Saratoga iron 2 420 tons to Havana, Newport iron 1 760 tons to Havana, San[tia]go iron 2 3[illegible]9 tons to Havana, Niagara iron 2 265 tons to Havana, City of Para iron 3 500 tons to Aspinwall. Other [illegible] may have the steam steerer fitted to them yet the list given includes the principal coastwise steamers using it. All new vessels will likely have it added as its worth is beyond calculation

FITTED TO OCEAN STEAMERS

Of ocean steamships, all of any note whatever use the steam steering gear. Even the better class of Atlantic "tramps" are not without it. In 1872 or 1873 the Oceanic pioneer steamer of the White Star line had it applied and this was the first vessel crossing the ocean with the improvement. It had already been used on Long Island Sound even the arrangement of the gear being identical. Since the Oceanic's trial the vast fleet of Atlantic steamers have steadily fallen into line in the matter of adopting the steam steerer and now a passenger carrying vessel running across the great ferry without it is unknown. It is the experience of captains of prominent Atlantic steamers that the ability to handle a large vessel with the steam steerer exceeds the purchase that could be brought upon the helm by fifty men. You can not fully estimate the value of this improvement" said an old and successful Atlantic captain without being able to practically compare the old style of steering and the present mode. The difference in the work is almost too great to be ex[pressed] fully comprehend to say nothing of the increased protection it affords by its effectiveness. Since its application to the Oceanic there has been no change of any moment in its arrangement, and none at present seems probable, as there are no ills about its doing the work intended. It can always be counted upon and the veteran added, "the improved Atlantic steamships of to-day are capable of successfully resisting the attacks of any storm, whatever its force and extent. There being nothing but fogs and icebergs from which to apprehend danger

So, with ocean steamships coast steamers and Sound steamboats using the steam steering gear with great satisfaction to officers and owners, there seems to be no good reason why its application should not be universal for all, with it there seemed to be increased safety and that after all is what the traveling public require and what really this age of improvement demands so far as skill and foresight can furnish it

THE PINK EYE

A BAD HORSE DISTEMPER ON HAND—PINK EYE IS THE SIGN

A talk with horsemen and livery stable keepers reveals the fact that there is an unusual amount of sickness among horses in Hartford the Times of that city says and while they are not prepared to say just what the disease is they appear to think that it is what is known at the West as pink eye but it will be seen further on that competent authority says it is not pink eye. Some of the stables claim to be free from it while others acknowledge they have it to a greater or less extent. Mr Poole the coal man, has nine horses down with it and has lost one and there have been three fatal cases in Allen's stables. At the horse railroad stables there are no cases. Mr William Meggat of Wethersfield lost his splendid gray horse by the disease a day or two ago. He valued the animal at $800. Dr Cressy formerly state veterinary surgeon says that the prevailing distemper among horses is not necessarily pink eye, for that is only one of the symptoms. Pink eye is not only applied to acute ophthalmia or an inflammation of the eye and inner surface of the eyelid but to a rheumatic affection. The disease which now afflicts the equines is quite different and manifests itself in three ways. The eye may be first attacked showing a reddened or inflamed condition of the eye and of the eyelid, with more or less of a watery discharge. This may be complicated by a sore throat with the glands swollen to a greater or less degree which often occurs to such an extent that it is next to impossible for the animal to swallow any food except in a liquid form or in the shape of mash. Another symptom is a discharge from the nose which was so prevalent in the late epizootic. Many of the cases will begin with a sore throat and a severe cough and will generally terminate with a running at the nose which affords great relief. A complication of any of these forms of distemper the doctor, says, may be accompanied by swelling of the legs or "stocking up" in which case the legs should be rubbed with warm applications and bandaged. The throat should also be bandaged and kept warm and the animal should be fed upon warm bran mash. The degree of severity with which the distemper will take hold of a horse will depend much upon the condition of the animal and the exposure to which it may be subjected. Dr Cressy says the prevailing distemper is simply a milder form of the epizootic that occurred to such an extent nine years ago, and which has been an occasional visitor to different parts of the country ever since. Severe complications often arise, if not attended to in which bronchitis and pneumonia follow, and may terminate fatally. "The disease" to use the doctor's own language "is epizootic in its character and not contagious nor infectious. One animal cannot take it from another, but all, being exposed to the same atmospheric causes, fall victims to the malady." This plain statement from a surgeon of Dr Cressy's experience and skill will ease the minds of many who feared that the disease was infectious and anticipated a general contagion among the horses.

A TELEGRAPH STORY. Mr W S Johnson the author of "Telegraph Tales" is responsible for the following story

"In the winter of 1870-71, one of the operators in the Western Union office at Boston had an epileptic fit. His medical attendant spoke to him, chafed him, and made every effort to arouse him, but in vain. Subsequently one of his fellow operators drew a chair up to the bed and took the patient's hand in his. As he did so he noticed a feeble pressure by the fingers which pressure presently resolved itself into dots and dashes, faintly communicating to the tactile sense the words, 'W-h-a-t d-o-c-t-o-r s-a-y a-b-o-u-t m-e?' Asked whether he could hear what was said to him, the patient signified assent by a slight motion with the tips of his fingers, and the result was that his fellow operator got from the patient enough dots and dashes to describe his feelings to the physician, who was thus enabled to apply the necessary remedies. It is certain that no other method of communication was possible under the circumstances, since the sufferer from epilepsy, although he could hear, could neither speak nor move any of his muscles, except those situated in the digital extremities, and those only with the faintest requisite in electric communication"

The Republican says the average receipts of potatoes at the starch factory, in Caribou, last week, were about 1200 bushels a day.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin

The Journal says The Lewiston poor department has been called upon to bury one person a day, on an average for several weeks they having sickened and died here without money or friends

Aroostook

The Times says An immense drove of sheep numbering some 1600 passed through Houlton, Monday morning, for Brighton market. They were purchased in this county by Mr Maxfield

Cumberland

The Press says the Gorham Grange Fair held Wednesday was very successful There was a very good exhibition of cattle horses hogs fowls &c gathered in from different sections of the town and collected on the well prepared grounds, on the farm of Col F Pohl. Among the best exhibitions of cattle were twenty four cows from the farm of Frank [illegible] Johnson, eight very large oxen owned by John N Newcomb, four oxen and four promising steers from the farm of Matthew Johnson

The young Wormell boy, who disappeared from his home in Portland Sunday, was found on board a vessel in the harbor, Wednesday and returned to his anxious parent. He wanted to see the world

Piscataquis

The Observer says The Piscataquis Conference of Congregational Churches will meet with the church in Foxcroft Tuesday morning of next week at 10 o'clock, and will close its sessions on Wednesday afternoon. A council is also called to install Rev D A Morehouse in connection with this Conference. The examination of the candidate will be Tuesday afternoon and the installation services in the evening of Tuesday. Rev Geo W Field D D of Bangor will preach the sermon

Sagadahoc

The members of Village Lodge, No 26 F A M of Bowdoinham held a public installation of officers at their hall Tuesday eve the 11th inst. After the installation services about one hundred including members with invited guests and ladies sat down to a very fine oyster and pastry supper furnished by the committee to which all did ample justice. Very exuberant remarks were made by Rev Messrs Hanscom of Auburn Atwood of Topsham and Kelly of Bowdoinham. The brethren dispersed at quite a late hour, all voting it a very pleasant occasion

Somerset.

The Reporter says that it is quite sickly now in Madison, especially among children. Typhoid fever, a disease so much to be dreaded is making its appearance here and there and in at least one third of the cases it proves fatal

The Reporter says that Saturday night as Mr William Adams and wife who reside a few miles this side of the Forks were driving, their horse ran away. Mrs Adams was thrown out with great violence and suffered a fracture of one leg besides several severe bruises. Mr Adams was thrown from his seat and in passing over the wheel caught his foot in it and had the foot torn entirely from the leg. The accident is of such a nature as to render amputation necessary, nearly up to the body. He lies in a very low condition

Waldo

The Belfast Journal says Mr Hiram [illegible] Pierce although he has 5 000 tons of ice in his building at the mouth of Goose River Belfast, left over from last winter will go into the business more extensively the coming season. Charles A Murch Mr Pierce's foreman, was in Bangor last week, purchasing lumber for the erection of additional ice houses. Mr P says he intends to cut and store 9 000 tons, which with his present stock will give him 14 000 tons should it be a favorable winter for Maine icemen. Mr P will reap a harvest

The Lewiston Journal says Chester S McFarland the postmaster at Montville has utilized the cheese factory in that village as an apple evaporating factory for the coming winter. The apparatus is from Philadelphia makers and the capacity of the factory is a maximum product of 240 bushels in twenty four hours. The factory is well worthy of a visit from all who are interested in the industrial interests of Maine. Thousands of bushels of apples from two inches in diameter to the largest size of Harvey Greenings, have been hauled to the works at rates varying from 20 to 40 cents per bushel

THE NEW PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE

[Special Despatch to the Boston Journal.]

ASHINGTON, Oct 15 The prophetic ...mark made in the Senate on Monday by ...Edmunds that the point gained by the ...mocrats by the exclusion of their equals, ...ould be taken of the better description, ...s realized to-day The Democrats ...uld then have elected Judge Davis and ...ll pledged him as a Democratic President pro ...m but the Presidential prospects of Mr ...yer had to be taken into consideration ...d was elected to be deposed on the ...rth day of his service To secure the ...ss on of the committee and to depose ...Bayard it became necessary for the ...Republicans to go outside of their party ...lications and to elect David Davis of ...nois He accepted the position as an ...dependent but all remember his earlier ...fess in the Republican party and his ...ma e friendship for Abraham Lincoln, ...o appointed him to a seat on the bench ...e Supreme Court

...y permitting the Democrats to transfer ...e from the Bench to a seat in the United ...s Senate the Republicans secured the ...or ...on the Electoral Commission ...ich made the election of Mr Hayes cer ...ain now he has enabled the Republi ...s to reverse the unfair snap game of ...e Democrats Born and raised in Mary ...d now in his 67th year he is a genial ...ldeman and he moves with great ne... y when it taken into consideration ...he weighs considerably over ...e hundred pounds He was more ...ully dressed than usual, to-day, wearing ...a black broadcloth coat light trousers ...d a white cravat and low quartered ...s He knew what was in store for ...m and placed a smile showed his satis ...ction At first he will be somewhat em ...a...ed in presiding but he will soon get ...e hang of parliamentary proceedings It ...as good as a play to see Judge Davis ...bend condescension wreathed in smiles ...orted to the President's chair of the ...ate by Bayard, who had been deposed ...Davis's friends and Anthony who could ...ve been elected if Davis would have ...ted for him

[From the Providence Journal.]

...e selection of Senator Davis as Pre... of the Senate will be accepted by the ...ntry as an equitable decision of an is... where the parties are balanced with ...h evenness in point of numbers and in ...ch his singularity of political opinion ...culiarly marked him out for the place ...nator Davis is also qualified for the du... of presiding officer by judicial and ...islative experience accurate knowledge ...parliamentary law and personal suavity ...ile his vote upon party divisions will ...probably be as uncertain as it has previ...sly been although he has lately ex...ssed himself in favor of sustaining har...ony with the Executive The Demo...atic victory achieved by excluding the ...ubicans from New York and Rhode Is...nd was as unreal as might have been ex...pected

[From the London Herald.]

The Democratic triumph in the Senate ...s short lived For the second time they ...bbed more than they could hold In both cases their action was justified in law ...t not warranted by prudence In order ...secure their precarious control of the ...at the Republicans have on both oc...sions been compelled to rely on the ...o of an independent The choice of ...d Davis as Pres dent pro tem is an ...ave from the first maintained, the ...st advantageous thing to do in the circum...ces It gives neither party any advan... as they should have where the ...ate is equally divided, and relieves the ...untry from the appreh...sion that a seri... MISCELLANEOUS

In Germany last year out of 1000 girls ...married 103 were 16 years old 101 were ...17, and 102 were 18 These were the most favored matrimonial ages and there were more women married at 35 than at 20

Mr. Amasa Stone of Cleveland a member of the Garfield Funeral Committee has proposed a memorial history of the ...ceremonies in that city and General B S ...Moyer has been instructed to take charge of the matter

General John Echols of Virginia reports that on a tour through the back woods of Kentucky and West Virginia he found even the cabins of the colored people with their blinds of crape in mourning for President Garfield

It is stated that the longest drouth which this country has ever known was in the year 1752 when for 123 days in succession ending Sept 1 no rain fell over a considerable part of what was at the time settled territory

The convicts in the Ohio Penitentiary have sent $1 00 to the Michigan sufferers They raised this sum by denying themselves the luxury of tobacco and by the sale of trinkets which they had made A good sermon could be preached from that text

In alighting from her carriage at the Globe Theatre in Boston just previous to the concert last Saturday evening Miss Clara Louise Kellogg sprained one of her ankles in a painful manner Although suffering greatly she sang her part rather than disappoint the audience

THE LATE DR HOLLAND The cause of the death of Dr J G Holland Editor of Scribner's Monthly was angina pectoris Four years ago his physicians told him he could not live more than ten years, and might die at any time He leaves a widow, one of the Chaplin family of Springfield, whom he married when twenty two years old, two unmarried daughters and one son, Theodore Holland, who is at present in the senior class at Yale College

From a recent posting of the ledgers of Charles Scribner's Sons it was ascertained that Kathrina died Dr Holland's books in popular favor the sale of that work having amounted to one hundred thousand copies Bitter Sweet follows with ninety thousand copies Of the "Titcomb Letters" which were refused by three publishers sixty one thousand copies have been sold up to this date

The very popularity of Dr Holland's writings says the New York Post renders much comment on them unnecessary Their merits are widely known, and their defects also But at least it will everywhere be gratefully allowed that in the long roll of his works no line is written which, for reason of its moral tendency, Dr Holland dying might wish to blot, and any man may be called fortunate whose life's work by common consent gave so fruitless pleasure to multitudes, and steadily helped to make and keep the world decent, honest and pure

General Garfield's picture is to be placed upon the five cent International postal letter stamps A very fine engraving is now being made by the Bank Note Company

A PENSIONED EDITOR

The latest feature in this profession is the retirement of Tom Connery on a pension of $5 000 a year He has filled the office of managing editor of the Herald during the last fifteen years with great ability, and is really worn out by hard work It is the rule with Bennett to give his picked men the assurance both of permanent employment and also of a retiring pension after a probation of faithful service Tom Connery was brought up in the Herald's establishment He is very plain in personal appearance, and few who may have noticed that tall, lank form, and that quiet and rather dull countenance would imagine that such a man wielded the New York Herald Tom is now about fifty. He will now make a trip to Europe, and after restoration to health will become an editorial contributor. Perhaps after a while Bennett may again make him manager. His successor, Stanley, is from the London Telegraph, where he has won distinction The Telegraph and Herald were mutually engaged in the Stanley expedition, and Bennett by bringing Lanley hither, shows his purpose to engage still more deeply in foreign affairs —N. Y. Cor. Concord Monitor.

MAINE NEWS.

PEDAGOGICAL SOCIETY.

Meeting at Augusta.

AUGUSTA, Oct. 14. Over a hundred of the leading educators of the State are in the city to-day attending the session of the Maine Pedagogical Society. The forenoon was mainly spent in the consideration of uniform course of study for the country schools of Maine, and in discussing practical matters connected with the profession of teaching. In the afternoon, the question of discipline was discussed. Rev. Dr. Torsey of Kents Hill, for thirty-three years connected with the Maine Wesleyan Seminary, gave his opinion as to the best method of conducting schools, drawn from his experience with more than 20,000 pupils. Gen. Joshua L. Chamberlain, President of Bowdoin College, read a thoughtful paper on "the nature and limits of government in colleges and secondary schools.

At the business meeting officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: President, Prof. H. L. Chapman, of Bowdoin College; Vice President, L. G. Jordan, Lewiston High School; Secretary and Treasurer, E. W. Hall, Colby University, Waterville; Executive Committee, A. W. Burr, Hallowell Classical Academy; R. Woodbury, Castine Normal School; members of Advisory Board, Miss H. M. Kimball, Gorham Normal School.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Session of the Senate

FOREIGN GUESTS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. The resolution offered yesterday by Mr. Lamar relative to the Inter-Oceanic Canal was adopted, as the resolution offered by Edmunds directing the Judiciary Committee to inquire whether the proceedings of the extradition of Vincenzo Rebello have been in accordance with law. The resolution offered by Mr. Sherman calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for the report of J. ... Meline was laid over one day. At 12:30 the Senate went into Executive Session.

At 1:30 the doors were opened and on motion of Senator Anthony the privileges of the floor for the day were extended to the National guests. The Senate then took a recess and did not reassemble until three o'clock, when the galleries were filled to their utmost capacity. At 3.15 the distinguished French and German visitors entered the Chamber and stood in the rear of the Senate desks. Senator Bayard said: "I beg leave to apprise the Senate of the presence on the floor of this Chamber of certain distinguished officers and citizens of our sister republic, France, and also certain other distinguished officers and citizens of the Empire of Germany, who have come here for the purpose of joining with the people of the United States in the celebration of the great culminating victory to the arms of the allied forces 100 years ago. On motion of Mr. Bayard a recess was then taken, which was occupied by the Senators in cordially greeting their distinguished guests. After the recess, the visitors having retired, the Senate went into Executive Session and when the doors were opened adjourned.

Nominations Confirmed.

The Senate in executive session to-day confirmed the nomination of Walker Blaine, of Maine, to be third assistant Secretary of State; also a number of United States Consuls and Postmasters.

OHIO.

Full Returns.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 14. Complete election returns from the entire State show Republican gains of 11,440 and Democratic gains of 9,359; net Republican gain 6,037; Foster's plurality twenty-four thousand and forty-two.

IOWA.

DES MOINES, Oct. 14. Eighty counties give Sherman a plurality of 40,720. The remaining eleven gave Garfield last year a plurality of 11,767. Corrected returns make the Republicans' strength in the Senate 41 out of 50 and the House 72 out of 100 members.

OUR DISTINGUISHED GUESTS.

Formal Reception at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. At 1:20 the French and German guests, accompanied by the French ministers and members of the French and German Legations, drove to the State Department, where they were presented to Secretary Blaine and other members of the Cabinet. A procession consisting of military and civic bodies escorted them to the Capitol. The Senate took a recess and the Senators proceeded to the rotunda to meet the distinguished guests. As the visitors entered, escorted by the members of the Cabinet, they were greeted with applause, which was repeated as Secretary Blaine, withdrawing for a moment, returned with President Arthur leaning on his arm.

Secretary Blaine presented to the President the French and German Ministers who after passing a few pleasant remarks with him, introduced to him the French and German guests. The army officers, headed by General Sherman, then welcomed the visitors, the presentation being made by Secretary Lincoln. Secretary Hunt performed the same service for the navy, while the Chief Justice and Associate Justices of the Supreme Court were introduced by Attorney General MacVeagh. This terminated the ceremonies, which was very brief and informal, and the distinguished foreigners proceeded to the Senate Chamber.

Immediately after the general reception in the rotunda the German Minister had a special audience with the President. The Minister stated he was charged by the Emperor, by the Crown Prince and afterwards, just before his departure, by Prince Bismarck to express the deep interest and sympathy they had felt in the illness of President Garfield, their sorrow on hearing of his death and their sympathy with his afflicted family and the nation in the hour of their grief. They had charged him emphatically to convey to the President a full expression of this feeling. The President replied in fitting terms.

The city to-night is illuminated and the grounds of the State and Treasury Departments and Executive Mansion are thronged with people witnessing the brilliant display of fireworks.

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEP'T, OFFICE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER, Washington, D. C., Oct. 15—(1 A. M.)

Indications.

For New England: Increasing cloudiness and rain; southeasterly winds; lower barometer; stationary or higher temperature.

King Oscar, of Sweden, has recently finished a new drama, called the "Castle of Kronberg," and it is soon to be published at Stockholm in the Swedish and at Berlin in the German language.

THE ASSASSIN GUITEAU

Arraigned for the Murder Of the Late President.

HE PLEADS NOT GUILTY

AND HIS CASE IS ASSIGNED FOR NOVEMBER SEVENTH.

OUTLINE OF THE DEFENCE.

A DRUNKEN FELLOW WANTS TO SHOOT THE PRISONER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. It having become known that the arraignment of Guiteau was going to take place, a large number of spectators assembled in the Court House and a very intense feeling of curiosity and interest was manifested. There was no unusual display of police force about the Court Room, although there was a large number of detectives present not in uniform. For over half an hour business was suspended awaiting the introduction of the prisoner.

At quarter past eleven, Mr. Scoville, counsel for the prisoner, entered and took a seat at the lawyer's table, and immediately afterward Marshal Henry and two deputy marshals, having between them the bowed and cowering figure of a man for whom they made way to a seat reserved for him beside his counsel. Then one of the guards unlocked the handcuffs giving the prisoner the use of his hands, which he continued, however, to hold crossed as if that was their usual position. Guiteau looked broken in health and uncared for in person. His hair is closely cropped, but his cheek and chin whiskers are worn thick, but not long. His dark clothes were rusty and shabby and his whole person presented a miserably neglected appearance.

After the excitement attending his entrance had subsided, District Attorney Corkhill rose and addressing the Judge, said: "The Grand Jury of the District of Columbia indicted Charles J. Guiteau for the murder of James A. Garfield. The prisoner is in Court, and I ask that he be arraigned and required to plead to the indictment."

The prisoner was ordered to stand up and in a languid manner he obeyed.

Clerk—"Is your name Charles J. Guiteau?"

The prisoner assented by a nod.

The Clerk then proceeded to read the indictment, the prisoner standing up with his head most of the time inclined to the right shoulder, his eyes were half closed or wholly so, his hands crossed over his stomach as if they still were handcuffed and his general air that of sickly indifference. The reading occupied nearly half an hour and during all that time Guiteau hardly once changed his attitude or bearing and rarely opened his eyes. He did not manifest the slightest degree of interest in the scene and but for an occasional slight movement might be supposed to be asleep in a standing attitude.

Upon the conclusion of the reading of the indictment the Clerk, addressing the prisoner, said: "What say you to this indictment, guilty or not guilty?" The prisoner in place of response fumbled in his waistcoat pocket and drew out a soiled and crumpled scrap of paper.

The District Attorney (imperatively)—"Enter your plea of guilty or not guilty."

The prisoner—"I enter a plea of not guilty. If your honor please, I desire to make a statement."

The Court—"At some other time. It would not be appropriate just now, sit down." The prisoner thereupon took his seat.

District Attorney—In this case I ask that the trial be set for next Monday morning. The Government is ready for trial now.

Mr. Scoville—I appear here for the defendant at his request and I have some affidavits to present to the court, the first being that of the defendant himself. The affidavit was read, and states there are various witnesses whose evidence is material for the prisoner's defence, without which he cannot safely go to trial; that the names and residences of such witnesses and the facts that can be proved by them severally are all known to the affiant's counsel, Mr. George Scoville, and are only known in part by the affiant.

It also stated that he has no money nor property and that he is unable to pay the fees or mileage of witnesses, or cost of summoning them, and he therefore prays that the Court shall allow such witnesses on his behalf as may be shown by the affiant's counsel to be necessary, the fees and costs to be paid in such manner as those of the Government witnesses are.

Scoville then read an affidavit made by himself. It states that besides the points of law that may be made, a defence will consist of two points: First, the insanity of the defendant and second that the wound was not necessarily mortal, and was not the cause of President Garfield's death. The affiant has had interviews to obtain the names and residences of the witnesses for the defence, to prove material facts on the question of insanity, but had been unable to get them because the defendant did not seem to understand, and refused to acknowledge the effect of the common and established rules of evidence in such cases.

The affiant believes this difficulty to arise from the very fact which such evidence could prove, to wit, the defendant's insanity, and yet he knows of no means to overcome it. For that reason chiefly the affidavit of the affiant becomes necessary in the case. He further says since he was employed in the case ten days ago, he has done what he could to prepare for trial, and especially has he made such inquiries as he was able to make concerning witnesses for the defence. He further says that the names and residences of some of the witnesses are as follows: John M. Guiteau, of New York; G. A. Parker, Wm. J. Maynard, Frances S. Bromley, Orson W. Goyt and Francis M. Scoville, of Chicago.

The affiant expects to prove by these witnesses the defendant's tendency to hereditary insanity, not only by his own conduct, but by establishing first, that one D. W. Guiteau, brother of the defendant's father, was insane and died in an insane asylum in New York many years ago; second, that one Augustus Parker, cousin of the defendant, a son of his father's sister was insane and died four years ago in an asylum in Cook county, Ill; third, that another cousin of the defendant, one Abbie Maynard, daughter of another sister of the defendant's father, has been insane for many years and is now confined in an asylum in Michigan, and further that L. W. Guiteau, father of the defendant was a monomaniac on the subject of religion for many years.

The affiant further says that he expects to prove actual insanity by B. G. Scoville and Geo. F. Burrows of Chicago, John H. Noyes of Niagara Falls, Jno. A. Rice of Waukesha, Michigan, and Mr. Bradley of Chicago. The affiant further says that he expects to prove by a Mr. Foss of Dover, N. H., that he was present at the time and place of the shooting; saw the defendant and heard what he said and that defendant's acts and words on that occasion showed unmistakably that he was insane.

The affidavit having been read, Mr. Scoville said: I have endeavored, under instructions of the defendant, to secure competent counsel to attend to his defence; I am myself not familiar with criminal law or criminal practice, and would not feel competent to take upon myself the defence. I have acted alone thus far, merely from force of circumstances. As soon as an application was made to me to act for the defendant, and in accordance with his request, I asked Emory A. Storrs, of Chicago, a gentleman conversant with criminal law to undertake the defence. Mr. Storrs said his engagements were such it would not be possible for him to attend to it.

I next applied to Richard T. Merrick, of this city, and received substantially the same answer. Mr. Merrick, however, kindly consented in case the question of jurisdiction should be raised to argue that branch of the case to the Court, but he said that beyond that his engagements would not permit him to take an active part. I next under instructions of defendant applied to Benj. F. Butler, of Boston, but my impression is that the letter addressed to him must have miscarried. It was mailed by me last Monday and as yet I have received no answer. I saw what purported to be telegraphic despatch from Mr. Butler to some one in this city, dated Wednesday at Boston, saying he had not heard from me. I have not addressed him further, hoping that he has received or will receive my letter of last Monday.

Of course if he cannot attend to it it will be my duty to try to obtain other counsel. I mention these things as part of the reasons which I think should operate with the Court and influence it to grant further time in this case.

Affiant further says it is important and necessary for the defence to have the testimony of experts on the subject of insanity in addition to witnesses of facts, and that he expects to prove that the defendant was insane at the time of the shooting by the testimony of competent witnesses. The affiant also expects to prove by the following named competent medical experts, Wm. A. Hammond, New York, J. Marion Sims, New York, Moses Gunn, Chicago and Edmund Andrews, Chicago, that the wound was not necessarily fatal and was not of itself the cause of the death of James A. Garfield, but that death ensued as a result of malpractice of the principal physician in charge of the wounded man.

The affiant has reason to believe and does believe there are material witnesses for the defence whose names and residences are at present unknown to him, on the question of insanity. Thus far the affiant has not been able to obtain information from the defendant himself, or otherwise, with any particularity as to where he has been, or as to the persons with whom he has associated for some years past, so as to know whom to call as witnesses, but the affiant believes that upon further inquiry and within 30 days he can ascertain the names and residences of many such witnesses whose testimony would be very material.

The affiant believes as many witnesses will be necessary on the part of the defence as appear on the list of witnesses for the prosecution, to wit forty-four, and the Court is respectfully asked to make an order allowing any number of witnesses not exceeding forty-four to be subpoenaed on the part of the defendant, as his counsel may from time to time deem necessary. The affiant further states that the defendant has no means of payment of any expenses, and the affiant himself has received nothing and expects to receive nothing for his expense and disbursements.

It is of the utmost importance, not only to the prisoner himself, but to the public at large, that the prisoner should be well represented in his defence, and it seems to be utterly impracticable that the trial should take place next week. If General Butler should decline to appear in the case, it would be proper for the prisoner himself to indicate to the court his choice of counsel. Scoville then proceeded to discuss the question of procuring the attendance of witnesses from abroad and he claimed that under the statute the question was one entirely under the discretion of the Court.

He said, as yet I am alone in this case, I have no one to help me, not even a clerk to prepare and copy papers. This work of getting up evidence, looking up witnesses and subpoening them all devolves upon myself. All I ask is that such action may be taken by the Court as will enable me to get witnesses for the defence into Court. There are certain indictments in the docket which are ahead of this case; I believe the Star Route cases are ahead of it, and thus the defendant can stay in jail for a few weeks longer without harm to himself or to the Government. At the same time I want the Court to understand there is no disposition so far as I am concerned to postpone trial.

District Attorney—My own judgment is that the trial ought to take place as soon as possible. The Government is ready and the trial should not be unduly postponed. The gentleman representing the prisoner occupies the double capacity of counsel and relative. He is thus enabled to know definitely as much as any man can possibly know about the history of the prisoner's life. The defence has foreshadowed their points in this case: First the question of jurisdiction; second, the question of insanity and third that the death of James A. Garfield was occasioned by malpractice.

The law is extremely liberal to persons accused of crime. This liberality has almost interfered with the proper punishment of criminals, but the law has never gone so far as your Honor is now asked to extend it. The law provides that the prisoner shall have a process of the Court to compel the attendance of witnesses, but the law binds the hands of the Court and restricts its discretion to cases of witnesses being within its jurisdiction, or within 100 miles of the place of trial.

As to summoning experts on the question of insanity, or as to summoning surgeons on the question of treatment, your Honor has no power to do so. If the prisoner desires the attendance of witnesses within 100 miles of Washington, and if your Honor thinks their testimony material, enough to justify the subjection of the United States to the expense, I shall make no objection, but as to these other witnesses your Honor is entirely powerless to make any order about them; their testimony if necessary at all can be taken by deposition.

As to the preliminary question of jurisdiction I ask your Honor to have that question for hearing at a very early day, and before the trial. Another request I have to make is that the day fixed for trial shall be peremptorily fixed and that the prisoner and his counsels shall understand that it means a day of trial, and not a day for presenting affidavits for another continuance.

After some further discussion the Court said, if assistance could not be otherwise obtained he should feel it his duty to assign the counsel. He then fixed the time for trial at November 7th. The question of jurisdiction is to be decided by October 20th.

While Guiteau was being arraigned a large sized man approached some of the officers of the court and asked for the loan of a pistol. His inquiries causing suspicion he was taken to the police headquarters where he gave the name as Geo. H. Bethard, and showed a diploma as a lawyer, issued to him June 23d, in Columbus, Ohio. He said he fought in Garfield's Regiment, and showed wounds which he said he received at the battle of Shiloh. He has been doing clerical work for a lawyer in this city. He said that Guiteau was to be arraigned to-day and he intended to get a "bull dog" pistol and shoot him at City Hall. He took his diploma with him to secure his getting into the court room as a member of the bar. He had evidently been drinking.

AN EXCITING STATE OF AFFAIRS.

LONDON, Oct. 14. The Times comments upon the recent attack on a person who was serving ejectment notices near Glengariff, when as the escorting party of police retired a number of armed men were seen approaching the scene. The Times says it is impossible to practice forbearance in the face of armed and concerted resistance.

The Standard's Dublin correspondent says that yesterday the guards all over the city were trebled and the police patrols were doubled, dragoons rode through the streets in all directions, detectives narrowly watched the movements of the League, police occupied the premises close to the League offices and a special force of foot and horse artillery was on duty at Kilmainham jail.

Twenty-five hundred troops are present at Naas in case of disturbances. At the Kildare convention yesterday a telegram from Parnell was read in which he says: "I rely upon you as true and sterling men; act as if I were with you." A resolution of sympathy with Parnell was then passed. Parnell on being arrested intimated his desire to avoid a demonstration and to be subjected to the same rules as other suspects. Orders have been received at Limerick to confine their troops to their barracks until further orders as great excitement exists there owing to Parnell's arrest.

The Standard's Dublin correspondent says that at a meeting of the Land League Executive Committee yesterday the Secretary read a letter from the League in America urging the League to redouble its exertions. Mr. Dillon announced that an indignation meeting would be held in the rotunda on Friday (to-day), the Lord Mayor-elect presiding.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Yesterday was another most delightful October day.

The price of coal remains the same—$6.50 per ton.

Twenty-five girls wanted to accept positions. See advertisement.

See notice of Russell & Blakmore, movers and raisers of buildings.

B. P. Kidder received last evening a box of very nice white fish from the Grand Lakes.

We learn that Mr. Charles V. Lord and party arrived in New York, from Europe, Thursday.

Rev. Mr. Johnson will preach for the last time in the First Methodist church on Sabbath evening.

In consequence of a locomotive getting out of order, the morning train was two hours late yesterday.

A large lot of desirable cloaks and dolmans and other goods just received at E. H. Hall's, 23 Main street.

The first lecture in the course of the Bangor Art Association will be given Oct. 27th, by Anna Sawyer Dow.

The subject of the pastor's sermon for Sunday morning at the Universalist church will be the "Yorktown Centennial."

Two more trusses were placed in position at the Opera House yesterday, making four that have thus far been raised.

Thos. Jenness & Son have in stock the Bradley white lead and Salem lead, both well known for purity, whiteness and durability.

We have received from L. J. Wheelden, of this city, the sheet music, by E. Gillmore, entitled "President Garfield's Funeral March."

Miss H. E. Seavey having recently returned from the openings in Boston and New York, will to-day make a fine display of millinery, at 72 Main street.

The schooner Annie Beazely, now lying at the Maine Central wharf, is being loaded by H. C. Quimby & Co. with hoops, cantdogs, poles, oars, hay, etc., for Florida.

H. S. Sands & Co. have left upon our desk a sweet potato weighing exactly two pounds. A few such would make quite a dinner for a person possessed of a delicate appetite.

Hon. Enoch Knight, Judge of the Municipal Court of Portland, returned Thursday from a week's visit to Moosehead Lake, feeling greatly refreshed by the bracing air of that delightful region.

Yesterday morning a horse became frightened by the cars on Broad street, opposite the ferry, and ran away. He cleared himself from the team and dashed into a cobbler's shop, where he was captured.

The most of the hay that is brought into market shows the effects of the frequent rains during the haying season. It is poor looking stuff, but commands a fair price, selling from $14 to $16 per ton in the market.

J. F. Chapman & Co., the well known clothiers, at No. 6 Strickland Block and No. 1 Kenduskeag Block, announce the arrival of an immense stock of new and stylish fall and winter clothing, overcoats, dress and business winter suits, etc.

The fall and winter arrangements on the Maine Central Railroad will go into effect Monday. The express train will leave this city at 7.05 A. M., the night train at 7.45 P. M., an accommodation train leaves at 6:00 A. M., and the mixed train for Waterville at 1.00 P. M.

Yesterday morning, as Mr. S. Foster, of Newburg, in company with his wife and child, was driving to this city, his horse became frightened, when near Hampden, at a coil of telegraph wire, and ran away, throwing out the occupants of the team. They were not seriously injured.

The Augusta Journal says that the contest for the glass ball championship of the State, which was left unfinished when the pigeon shooters were at Augusta, has been decided. H. A. Jones, of the Peaks' Island Club, wins the badge, shooting five pairs straight, on a tie with Peavy, of this city.

PERSONAL. A. M. Daggett, Esq., a native of this city, but who has for a number of years past resided in Paxton, Ill., has been visiting his friends in Bangor a week or two past. He will leave for his western home next Monday. Mr. Daggett was for some twelve years in the Recorder's office in Paxton, but about a year ago turned his attention to other matters and has met with success. He is a brother to J. M. Daggett, Esq., the dry goods merchant.

MEETING AT Y. M. C. A. HALL TO-DAY. Instead of the usual open air meeting held by the Y. M. C. A., a meeting will be held in their hall to-morrow afternoon, commencing at three o'clock. An address will be delivered by Rev. I. T. Johnson on the "Besetting Sins of Young Men." All young men are invited.

The Kenduskeag National Bank has contracted with Diebold's Safe and Lock Co. for a modern, burglar-proof steel safe, of a large and commodious size. It will be placed within the apparently impregnable vault which has arrived for Mr. Hayford's new banking house, it being the purpose of the officers of the bank to make security doubly secure.

DELAY OF THE KATAHDIN. The steamer Katahdin did not arrive at this port until eleven o'clock last night. This was in consequence of detention at Rockland on her outward trip, the high wind and rough sea rendering it unsafe to proceed. She left Rockland at 5 20 A. M. Thursday and left Boston for this city at one o'clock yesterday morning. She brought quite a number of passengers and a heavy freight.

THE FEAT OF A BICYCLIST. Mr. George N. Rogers, the bicyclist, an account of whose journey on the "silent steed" appeared in yesterday's paper, has completed his task, having arrived in this city at six o'clock last evening. As we have previously stated he left Boston Tuesday morning at seven o'clock and reached Augusta Thursday night. He left the latter city at 7 A. M. yesterday and arrived here as above stated, having made 74 miles during the day and 214 since Tuesday morning.

ALONG THE B. & P. RAILROAD. The railroad depots at Dover and Guilford have been repaired and painted, a new platform having also been laid at the latter place. The two stations now present an attractive appearance.—Parties are prospecting for another spool mill in the neighborhood of Plantation No. 8, in Piscataquis county. —A side track is being put in at Spratt's crossing, between the stations of Alton and South Lagrange, to accommodate the lumber and hay cut in that section. The first freight will be eight or ten car loads of hay.

A MISSING TEAM. Sheriff Stratton has received a letter from a lawyer in Buckfield stating that some three weeks ago a man giving the name of H. J. Fogg, of Boston, hired a team of J. N. Tobin for a few days. The team has not been returned, but Mr. Tobin has received a letter from Mr. Fogg who states that the team is in this city and that he will return here and deliver it to the owner. Diligent search in this city fails to discover the team. The horse is a bay mare weighing about 850 pounds and the carriage is a top buggy with side bars. The matter may be all right, but Mr. Tobin is naturally anxious.

THE ADAMS' BROTHERS' STORE. Adams' Brothers', the well-known practical hatters, have greatly improved and enlarged their store on Kenduskeag Bridge. The manufacturing department has been removed up stairs, the partition has been taken away, the store generally remodelled and refurnished, and presents a very attractive appearance. Three large windows in the rear and two in front admit an abundance of light in the daytime, while at night the mirrors, glass cases and gilding glitter in the light of the numerous lamps. The improvements have long been needed and enable the firm to display its fine stock of hats, furnishing goods, wool and fur robes, horse blankets, etc., etc., to much better advantage than heretofore. The firm is too well known to our readers to require special enumeration of the goods in which they deal. They have for years made the manufacture of fine silk and felt hats to order a specialty, besides dealing largely in gents' underwear, neck scarfs, collars, etc.

BANGOR'S POOR.

A Visit to the City Farm and Almshouse.

Much has been written descriptive of the City Farm, and there are few objects within the city limits more familiar to our citizens than the large but rather unpretentious pile of brick and mortar known as the Almshouse, yet few are aware how much there is to be seen about the institution that is sure to interest the visitor, and very few, comparatively speaking, have personally informed themselves of the generous provision made by the city for its unfortunate poor. Such, at least, were the reflections of our reporter during a visit to the Poor Farm last Thursday.

Having accepted a courteous invitation, in company with Hon. A. G. Wakefield, we were driven by Superintendent Sands direct to the City Farm, where we were joined by Overseers of the Poor Ingalls and Grover. On our way thither we could but express our admiration for the noble animal (owned by the city) over which Supt. Sands drew the reins—a large grey mare, sleek and clean limbed,—and we were not surprised when informed that she was awarded the first prize as a family horse at the late Hampden Fair. Entering upon the farm through the rear gate, on the Webster road, our attention was first attracted to a square, windowless brick structure, which our host informed us was the powder house. Further on was a one-story wooden building, much resembling an ordinary country school-house. This was the pest-house. It was built during the prevalence of the cholera in this city many years ago. We understand it has never been occupied, and it is to be hoped that it may never be required for the purpose for which it was built.

We soon found ourselves in a field wherein were grazing a number of fine milch cows, together with young stock. The Hon. Mr. Wakefield surprised us with an exhibition of his knowledge of cattle, readily pointing out the Ayrshires, the Devons, the Herefords, the Jerseys, the natives and the "mixed," and favoring us with a dissertation on their various characteristics. But when he told us that the earlier years of his life had been spent upon a farm, and that he was personally familiar with all its drudgery, we no longer wondered at his enthusiasm. As we drove through the rich and productive fields, Mr. Sands pointed out many improvements which he had made during the four years that he has been superintendent. One fine field from which more than two tons of hay to the acre were cut, and over every part of which a mowing machine was used, was but a short time ago a piece of worthless land, so gullied that even an ox-team could not be driven over it; but by grading it, cutting down the hills and filling up the valleys, he succeeded in making a beautiful field. He has also constructed a large amount of substantial fencing. One field of four acres, seeded down two years ago, yielded a crop of ten tons of hay last summer. The farm contains ninety acres, fifty of which are mowing fields and from which one hundred tons of hay were cut last season, thirty tons of which will be sold. Seven acres were sowed with wheat, from which two hundred bushels of grain were harvested. One acre was devoted to turnips. The potato crop was affected by rot, some three hundred bushels having been lost. About nine hundred bushels of sound, nice looking potatoes were dug, however, and put into the cellar. Beans, peas, and in fact, all kinds of vegetables were also raised upon the farm.

Having devoted an hour or so to an inspection of the various fields, we rode down to the farm buildings. We noted many improvements here. Old dilapidated sheds had been torn away and replaced by neat and convenient buildings. The barns were well stocked with hay and grain. The handsome oxen, recently spoken of in this paper, were quietly chewing their cuds in a yard adjoining the principal barn. Besides the oxen and the young stock on the farm there are twelve cows. There are also a number of swine. Mr. Sands said he should probably winter twenty-three hogs. A pair of heavy black work-horses stood in their stalls. They cost the city $275, yet they took the first premium at the recent fair at Hampden.

We were next escorted into the apartments wherein the Superintendent and his family reside. Having divested ourselves of our overcoats we proceeded on a tour of inspection throughout the building wherein so many of the city's poor find rest and comfort. The first object to attract our attention was a book-case containing between two and three hundred volumes, presented by the late Hon. Franklin Muzzy. The books were selected and purchased by the Hon. Mr. Wakefield at Mr. Muzzy's request. We were taken through the various apartments and were agreeably struck with the neatness which everywhere prevailed. A detailed description is unnecessary. So many additions and alterations have been made—there are so many stairs—so many doors—so many passage-ways—that the visitor becomes bewildered and wonders that anyone can find his way through the building without a guide-book. There are accommodations for considerably more than one hundred persons, there having been at one time during Mr. Sands' administration one hundred and fifteen inmates. There are now about ninety, twenty to twenty-five of whom are more or less insane, three of whom—two men and one woman—it is necessary to keep under lock and key. There are ten old ladies in the hospital ward. Among the inmates are several a history of whose lives would form an interesting chapter. In one room, the wax-like neatness of which arrested the attention of the visitors, sat an elderly lady, whose features had been somewhat distorted by neuralgia. Her name is Mrs. Mason. The visitors were introduced to her and a brief but intelligent conversation ensued. The strange part of it is that the woman is totally deaf—being unable to hear even the report of a cannon. But she watches closely the movements of the lips of those who are speaking and rarely fails to understand what is said and she responds quite correctly. Several persons were pointed out who had seen better days—some who have had property and been honored and respected, but misfortunes had overtaken them and in their old age they were forced to seek the asylum of the almshouse. The most of our readers remember Mr. Ward, the poet of the institution. For years he has sat in the same room, with hands and feet drawn up by rheumatism, unable to get about. Years ago he was a stump orator, and one night at the close of an address during a political campaign he drank a quantity of ice-water which in his heated condition plunged him into a rheumatic fever. His present condition tells plainly of the intense sufferings he must have endured. He is a great reader and seizes upon the daily papers with avidity.

After being shown through the various wards, we passed through the dining rooms into the great kitchen where we were permitted to inspect the pantries, taste of the bread, etc., and we were satisfied that many families outside of the almshouse would feel thankful could they have as good food as that supplied to the paupers. We next visited the store room which we found well filled with warm, comfortable clothing, manufactured on the premises. The wash room and bath room were also duly inspected, as was also the cellar wherein are stored the potatoes. But perhaps the objects of most interest was the dairy and the room wherein Mrs. Sands reigns supreme, which latter place is where this lady with her own hands has made over one thousand pounds of nice butter since the 1st of last March. By means of a patent creamery the milk is kept sweet for a long time and the cream is allowed time to rise. During this time, since last March, $80 worth of cream has been sold. Mrs. Sands has labored incessantly and is now making a brief visit in the country to obtain needed rest. Her place is filled during her absence by the assistant matron, Miss Nellie Canney, a very capable lady, who has been for some three years connected with the institution.

One hundred and fifty cords of edgings are consumed yearly, costing $1.50 per cord delivered.

Supt. Sands has somewhat recently built a blacksmith shop on the grounds and a great saving is effected thereby.

While the most of the work on the farm is done by pauper labor, it is of course necessary to employ a certain amount of other help, and Mr. Sands and the Overseers assured us that they have been very fortunate in having obtained some of the very best men that can anywhere be found—intelligent, honest, capable and industrious.

While everything about the building was neatness itself there was in certain portions of the building, notably in some of the wards for refractory patients, a lack of proper ventilation. How it can be remedied we do not pretend to know; but that the evil exists is only too apparent.

As our visit was drawing to a close we were ushered into the private dining room, where a collation was served.

As we left the institution we could but feel thankful that for the destitute and helpless poor of Bangor there was so good an asylum provided, the affairs of which are conducted by officers of good executive ability and whose kindliness and sympathy have won for them the love of their unfortunate dependents.

AMUSEMENTS.

"My Partner."

Next Monday evening will witness the second representation in Bangor of "My Partner," a purely American play, by the Aldrich and Parsloe Combination. The tickets are selling rapidly at Bugbee's. The New York Express says:

"My Partner" is without doubt the best play that Mr. Campbell has written. Its dialogue is full of strength and passion, with an undercurrent of pathos that is very touching. It was evident from the applause with which the play was received last evening, that it is destined to become popular. The characters have a freshness about them that speaks well for the author's versatility. Joe Saunders, for instance, is a splendidly drawn characterization of a whole-souled, generous, devoted friend, with a rough exterior, but a heart of gold, and splendidly Mr. Aldrich played it. Last night he moved his audience to tears or swayed them to enthusiasm at will. They gave him their sympathy from the start, and he held it to the close. It was a symmetrical and earnest work of art. Mr. Parsloe presents one of his embodiments of Chinese character, of which he may be said to possess the monopoly. The performance indeed was a success throughout. Messrs. Aldrich and Parsloe may be congratulated upon having secured a play that is certain to be prosperous.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

October (Civil) Term.

JOHN A. PETERS, Justice Presiding.
RUEL SMITH, Clerk.

Friday, Oct. 14.

Thomas Rich et al applts. vs. Mary K. Gilkey. A. G. Wakefield, T. G. Stickney and J. N. Farnham were called as attesting witnesses to the will. Mr. Wakefield was present when as alleged the codicil was destroyed. His testimony has a tendency to show that the testator was in sound mind at the time. Mr. Stickney who frequently saw Capt. Rich both before and after this time, gave testimony sustaining the defendant's side of the case, as did also Mrs. T. G. Stickney, who testified yesterday afternoon.

Dr. George P. Jefferds, who was the attending physician during Captain Rich's last sickness, was on the witness stand nearly all the early part of the day. He testified that Capt. Rich was at times wandering—that he imagined himself on some steamer and at one time inquired of him what time they would get up to Bangor. He thought the condition of his patient might have been aggravated by too much conversation on business affairs. His mental condition was worse at night than in the morning, which the witness thought was caused by disturbance during the day.

On cross examination the witness said that Captain Rich thought he was able to be up and dressed and was sometimes petulant and cross and sometimes ferocious because he was compelled to lie in bed.

Mr. E. S. Baker, a barber, who used to be called in to shave Captain Rich, testified that on those occasions the sick man appeared very stupid, and would not answer his formal salutations.

"THE COMMODORE." Jos. L. Foote, the Commodore, Elgin, Ill., says THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL cured him of sciatica with one application, thoroughly applied. It also cured him of a severe cold and cough. He thinks it a very valuable remedy, and will never be without it. sept10 d&w 1w

GREAT OIL BOOM. E. Balch, Elgin, Ill., writes: "That after trying dozens of patent liniments, without relief, for a rheumatic and stiff knee, I feel I have 'struck oil at last,' for after using three bottles of THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, I am prepared to say it is the best application I have ever used." oct10 d&w 1w

HOW TO SECURE HEALTH. It is strange any one will suffer from derangements brought on by impure blood, when SCOVILL'S SARSAPARILLA AND STILLINGIA, OR BLOOD AND LIVER SYRUP will restore health to the physical organization. It is a strengthening syrup, pleasant to take, and the BEST BLOOD PURIFIER ever discovered, curing Scrofula, Syphilitic disorders, Weakness of the Kidneys, Erysipelas, Malaria; Nervous disorders, Debility, Bilious complaints and Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, Stomach, Skin, etc.

PILES! PILES! PILES! A SURE CURE FOUND AT LAST! NO ONE NEED SUFFER! A sure Cure for Blind, Bleeding, Itching and Ulcerated Piles has been discovered by Dr. William, (an Indian remedy) called Dr. William's Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of 25 or 30 years standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electuaries do more harm than good. William's Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching, (particularly at night after getting warm in bed,) acts as a poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for piles, itching of the private parts, and for nothing else.
Read what the Hon. J. M. Coffinberry of Cleveland, says about Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment: I have used scores of Pile Cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. William's Indian Ointment.

Surely truth is stranger than fiction. One druggist alone has sold more than a thousand bottles of "ELIXIR OF [illegible] ROOT," and has never found a case where it has failed to cure. How is that for a record? oct12 eod&w

"HOW ARE YOU MY OLD FRIEND?" Asked a bright looking man. "Oh! I feel miserable, I'm billious and can't eat, and my back is so lame I can't work." "Why in the world don't you take Kidney Wort? that's what I take when I'm out of sorts, and it always keeps me in perfect tune. My doctor recommends it for all such troubles." Kidney-Wort is the sure cure for billiousness and constipation. Don't fail to try it.—Long Branch News. oct8

MISCELLANEOUS

Moseley's Cabinet Creamery exhibited by W. A Bartlett, Refrigerator and cream ery combined. Labor saving by doing away with pans. Mr. B. also exhibits a Stoddard Revolving barrel churn, said to be a fine churn.

Mrs Charles Willey exhibits a fine specimen of eggs consisting of 30 laid by three pullets since Aug 27, lot even and handsome.

Mrs R W. Murch, 1 loaf of raised bread from Lost Nation Wheat, very fine, we award her Frank D Pullen's prem for best loaf of white bread made from home raised wheat.

Mrs. W. T. Eldridge, 1 loaf of raised bread from Maine raised wheat, good.

Charles D. Craig exhibits 12 specimens of Oriental ware, odd and attractive. A vase or jar and an umbrella and cane stand of his own manufacture, beautifully decorated with Oriental pictures. It showed skill and taste on the part of the manufacturer, and added greatly to the interest of the exhibition, we recommend a diploma.

Mr. E C Snow, of Bangor, exhibits one very attractive parcel of fashionable garments for misses and children, cut and made to order; cloths of different kinds, trimmings and shirtings.

Mr. A. L Bourne, of Bangor, exhibits the Davis sewing machine This machine is said to be adapted to a larger variety of work done in a given time than any other machine. The chief point of excellence in this machine is its vertical feed, thus adapting it to the coarse as well as the finest work; another point is that it does away with basting.

Dwelley & Co, Bangor, have on exhibition the Domestic sewing machine. This is a modern machine, strong, and said to do all kinds of family work in a superior manner, and without trouble or any breaking down One very important point in this machine is that any mechanic can repair it when out of order

Mr H H Wheeler of Etna, has on exhibition Lyon's Adjustable Fruit and Vegetable Evaporator, for family use The fruit is dried by steam and thus cured is equal to green fruit The inventor exercises no monopoly, and every family can use it in preparing fruit for home consumption or for market, highly recommend

In musical Instruments, L J Wheelden shows an organ from the company of Loring & Blake, also one from the manufactory of B. Shoninger, the last has the bell attachment, and folding pedals. He exhibits an orgulnette from J. Mellammay, this is a modern instrument and attracts a great deal of attention, it is quite a curiosity in the line of music, and quite a mystery how the machine can turn so good music out of perforated paper.

A M Devereaux also exhibits a Wilcox & White organ, and an upright piano from the manufactory of Chickering & Son, Boston.

A cage of Guinea pigs consisting of seven—parents and five offspring—attracts a great deal of attention, especially among the little folks The young are pretty little creatures and make quite an addition to the exhibition

W M Barrows showed a splendid harness made from oak tanned uncolored leather tastefully trimmed and gold mounted, and has all the leading fashions of a strong and durable harness, we recommend a diploma.

A chair which may have been used by some of our great, great, great grandfathers and mothers, decorated the eastern end of one of the centre tables, and looked very temptling to the tired people It is almost an article of antiquity, going back into the past 200 years It is recently been upholstered in simple style quite in harmony with its age

Mrs Trisilcum Godfrey placed a platter of pansies on the end of one table beautifully arranged and decorated around the edge with moss-curled parsley

A fine brass wire cage ornamented with flowers, containing a Cardinal bird, exhibited by Miss Della Hopkins occupied a conspicuous place on the upper shelf of one of the centre tables, and is a beauty and ornament to any exhibition or private room It attracted as it deserved a good deal of attention

WHY ARE WE SICK?

Because we allow the great organs of the body to become clogged by impurities that should be thrown off by these organs.

KIDNEY-WORT

WILL SURELY CURE

KIDNEY DISEASES,
LIVER COMPLAINTS,
PILES, CONSTIPATION, URINARY DISEASES, FEMALE WEAKNESSES AND NERVOUS DISORDERS,

By causing perfect action of these organs and restoring the powers to throw off disease

Why suffer Dillous pains and aches? Why tormented with Piles, Constipation? Why frightened over disordered Kidneys? Why endure nervous or sick headaches?

Use KIDNEY-WORT and rejoice in health

It is put up in Dry Vegetable Form, in tin cans 1 package of which makes six quarts of medicine. Also in Liquid Form, very Concentrated, for those that cannot readily prepare it

Either with equal certainty of cure Sold by druggists Ask for KIDNEY-WORT

AN OPEN LETTER

—FROM—

W. F. SHAW,

—TO—

HIS PATRONS AND THE PUBLIC.

The undersigned dealer in Boots and Shoes Hats and Caps Gloves, Umbrellas, etc., etc., at NO 70 MAIN STREET, would most respectfully call the attention of his patrons and the public generally, that on and after July 1st, the credit system at this establishment will be abolished and no sales will be made except strictly for cash

This new departure is not made without having been carefully considered. The undersigned is aware that several of the best customers who are persons of means and whose word is as good as the gold they probably owe, will, from a like reflection will continue them that they will be benefitted by the change. It is the earnest desire of the undersigned to the best cash prices at the lowest possible figures, and he can only be encouraged to do so by a system. By this means the undersigned will be enabled to take advantage of the cash discounts and the accompanying bargains. His expenses will be reduced, and bad bills will be incurred. He will be able to carry on a business without the interest that must be collected. It will be a practical effort to refute the old fallacy that the retail trade is a credit system, and enforced. Most every reputable person will admit the remedy proposed is the best one for both parties concerned, and will be mutually beneficial. He also solicits the patronage of customers, one and all, that the most courteous treatment, and the best goods at the lowest prices for the change guarantee to them better bargains than we could possibly obtain by any other system of conducting business

Goods may be returned if not satisfactory, and the money will be cheerfully refunded.

Thanking his patrons for past favors and solicits a continuance of the same, he remains very respectfully the public's most obedient servant.
